Grading

The final grade is based on participation (keeping regular attendance and learning parts accurately and in a timely manner). Attendance is based on the following policy:

Students must attend all rehearsals, dress rehearsals, and performances. In the event of illnesses or emergencies which prevent attendance, you must contact the instructor to be excused from rehearsal (prior to the rehearsal in question). Each student will be allowed two unexcused absences. Each unexcused absence beyond two will lower the final grade one letter. Students must also show up on time for rehearsals (this means being there, in your chair before 11:10am. Excessive tardiness will affect the final grade. I will end rehearsals promptly at noon, and I ask that each member of the choir respect our rehearsal time by allowing me to begin promptly at 11:10am.

University Choir, like all of the ensembles at The University of Montana, is a team effort. Each member of the choir has a significant and equal contribution. If you miss a rehearsal it influences the whole ensemble. You gained access to this choir by audition, showing a level of talent and skill in vocal tone and technique, and aural acuity. You were also selected as part of a section, which must strive to blend and sing as a unit. We will vary our rehearsals between "tutti" full ensemble and sectional work. Each member of the choir is responsible for learning their music in a timely manner. At some point in the semester I will test each member of the choir on their parts.
